I. Overview

The Metropolitan Transportation Commission (MTC) is the transportation planning, financing, and coordinating agency for the nine-county San Francisco Bay Area. As a Metropolitan Planning Organization, MTC supports the region's network of streets, roads, highways, public transit systems, airports, and other transportation resources, including the movement of goods through ports and freight rail lines. MTC works with cities and counties to establish short- and long-term goals and provides resources to help them reach these goals.

Census data is a valuable information resource used to inform decision making by MTC as well as other public agencies, businesses, and individuals. This compilation has been created to provide easy access to historical census data for the Bay Area. The data is available in both PDF and Excel files for each geographical unit.

Information on various transportation topics including commuting, the Census Transportation Planning Package (CTPP), daytime population, household vehicles and more can be found on the following web page:

VI. Vital Signs

The San Francisco Bay Area has established an innovative monitoring initiative to track trends related to transportation, land and people, the economy, the environment, and social equity. Measurements in these areas are our region's Vital Signs – helping us understand where we are succeeding and where we are falling short.

This data-driven website by MTC compiles dozens of indicators; each is presented with interactive visualizations that allow you to explore historical trends, examine differences between cities and counties, and even compare the Bay Area with other peer metropolitan areas.
