[REDACTED] [1] *Zip* [REDACTED] *Topic* Environment *Comment* Transportation needs to be integrated into plans for modernizing parks with the goal of creating walkable communities.

Historically, parks are often placed in the center of R1 development and often are ignored by the community as they do not fit into a car dependent society. Mix it up a bit, have the commuter bus stop there, in the heart of the community. Open up the near abandoned community centers to pop-up peddlers of coffee in the AM and forgotten milk in the PM. These small businesses can be culled from the low income road side vendors that are often chased away by the police as a nuisance. The 'rent' of the park location can be a commitment to keeping the park area clean. [1]
