

Severe Drought

Chris Brosnan [REDACTED]

Tue 7/20/2021 5:53 AM

To: EIR Comments <eircomments@bayareametro.gov>

*External Email***

I am confused as to why anyone would be advocating for more housing in California. There are no wild salmon in California this year. This is because the Sacramento river is OUT OF WATER because we use it all

I live in a "Jobs Rich" town called Palo Alto. The dump is completely full. Full of trash. Our garbage is shipped to Sunnyvale now. Anyone who thinks increasing the human population in California is a good idea is the exact opposite of an environmentalist

The Colorado river is considered an endangered waterway. Southern California is importing half of its water already- a lot of it from us. Which is why we have no salmon. Seriously, you have no answers for the environmental crisis as it is now. Don't make it exponentially worse by added tons of more humans to the situation