Please stop! If demand outstrips supply, you can increase supply or decrease demand.

Increase supply - jobs/housing: traffic, already bad, gets even worse.

Housing becomes more dense, more parking on the street, ...

in what way does that benefit people who already live here?? Cities such as Palo Alto are not equipped to deal with more traffic - we just don't have the needed expressways, etc.

Decrease demand: Things can remain as they are . Other areas that could use some more jobs housing can benefit.
