I am a resident of Corte Madera.

Plan Bay Area fails to understand that Marin has only one main artery which gets clogged very easily.

We have narrow roads that are unable to accommodate many cars and these roads cannot be widened.

We are a bunch of small towns.

Check out Blithedale Ave in Mill Valley, Tiburon Blvd., Sir Francis Drake Blvd. in Greenbrae, Kentfield and Ross.

These roads cannot be widened as homes are closely adjacent to these streets.

We are maxed out here.

Do not force residents of Marin to accommodate more people.

The Wincup disaster in Corte Madera has caused much anxiety, sadness and anger here in Marin.

It is a huge monster, totally out of character for the area.

It hasn't even been rented, yet you want more homes here in Marin before we even see the result of that monstrosity that everyone hates.

You need to listen to the people.

We still live in a democracy, don't we?

Sincerely,

Gloria Gallo
